
Our Privacy Statement

- We are a network. Our objective is to exchange ideas, thoughts and work on our mission to help improve the efficiency of legal systems. a we collect from you when you use our website.

What data do we collect via this website and how?

- We do not actively collect or process data via this website.
- We use cookies to ensure the visibility of our website on search engines, and for no other purpose.
- If you fill in one of the forms on the “Stakeholders” section of our website, you give us permission to use the data you give us to inform our research. We do not publish the information you give us and do not use anything that can be traced back to you.

How will we use your data?

- If you fill in one of the forms on the “Stakeholders” section of our website, you give us permission to use the data you give us to inform our research. We do not publish the information you give us and do not use anything that can be traced back to you.

How do we store your data?

- Information that you fill in on one of our forms will be stored on a separate, network members-only 'Surfdrive' folder, at maximum for the duration of our project.

Marketing

- We do not do any marketing, but may contact you if you have given us permission to do so when filling in a form.
- If you change your mind and do not want us to contact you although you have given us permission, inform us by contacting us through the website and we will make sure that we stop contacting you as soon as possible.

What are your data protection rights?

- The right to access – You have the right to request our network for copies of your personal data. We may charge you a small fee for this service.
- The right to rectification – You have the right to request that our network correct any information you believe is inaccurate. You also have the right to request our network to complete the information you believe is incomplete.
- The right to erasure – You have the right to request that our network erase your personal data, under certain conditions.
- The right to restrict processing – You have the right to request that our network restrict the processing of your personal data, under certain conditions.
- The right to object to processing – You have the right to object to our network’s processing of your personal data, under certain conditions.
- The right to data portability – You have the right to request that our network transfer the data that we have collected to another organization, or directly to you, under certain conditions.
- If you make a request, we have one month to respond to you. If you would like to exercise any of these rights, please contact us at our email:

Cookies

- Cookies are text files placed on your computer to collect standard Internet log information and visitor behavior information. When you visit our websites, we may collect information from you automatically through cookies or similar technology
- For further information, visit allaboutcookies.org.

How do we use cookies?

- We do not use cookies

Privacy policies of other websites

- Our network website contains links to other websites. Our privacy policy applies only to our website, so if you click on a link to another website, you should read their privacy policy.

Changes to our privacy policy

- Our network keeps its privacy policy under regular review and places any updates on this web page. This privacy policy was last updated on 17 September 2022.

How to contact us

- If you have any questions about our network's privacy policy, the data we hold on you, or you would like to exercise one of your data protection rights, please do not hesitate to contact us through the "Contact" section of our website